Denver, Colo.—The Irish question came into the open Tuesday for the first time at the convention of the American Federation of Labor.

James H. Thomas, representing the British trades unions, was asked what the unions of Great Britain were doing to help Ireland gain her freedom.

The British labor movement has always favored Irish freedom but does not want an independent nation," Thomas said.

"We do not want to see an independent nation which would be a menace to us as a submarine base," Thomas said.

Thomas had finished his regular address when the question was handed to him. He said he had deliberately refrained from mentioning the subject.

"If I refused to discuss the Irish question now, it would be because I am afraid of it or of you—and I am neither," Thomas declared.

He explained his adjournment of the British labor congress when the sister of Lord Mavor MacSwiney asked to be allowed to address it in behalf of her brother then on his hunger strike.

"Ireland has been deceived so long by the British statesmen that she no longer trusts anyone," he continued.

"They have been fed on broken promises for hundreds of years.

We have found difficulty in solving the Irish question," Thomas said. "I wish you luck if you can solve it 3,000 miles away."

A self appointed committee of nine made up of sympathizers of the fight of Irish for freedom, agreed upon a resolution which will be presented to the convention demanding that the United States recognize the "Irish republic."

The committee was still undecided on the question of recommending that labor boycott goods made in England.

British and French workmen are paying today because of the post-war cry of "make Germany pay," Thomas declared Tuesday in his address.

Thomas stated the parties who drew up the peace treaty allowed them to decide instead of their heads to direct their intelligence when they adopted the attitude of "make Germany pay."

"With a war hatred and a spirit of revenge, the peace treaty demanded that Germany pay," said Thomas.

Working conditions in steel mills were cited by labor leaders in answer to attacks of E. H. Gary, head of the United States Steel corporation, on the leaders of organized labor.

"More credence would be placed in Mr. Gary's remarks if he granted his men an 8-hour day and allowed them to work 12 hours a day and cut their wages at the first opportunity," said Morrison.

James Duncan of Quincy, Mass., first vice president of the federation, stated that Gary "was not speaking for union labor when he said labor was never more highly respected than today."

Little sentiment had developed Tuesday in opposition to the reelection of Samuel Gompers as president of the federation. His address at the opening of the convention was generally approved by the delegates and undoubtedly solidified his position as leader.

Close friends of John L. Lewis, mentioned as a possible opponent of Gompers for the job, admitted there was little chance of putting over the head of the mine workers for the position.

HUNDRED ENDANGERED BY FLYING BULLETS

Kansas City, Mo.—One bandit was shot and killed and another captured in a running revolver battle in the heart of the Kansas City business district Tuesday.

E. A. Prosser, a bystander, manager of the Chillicothe, Mo., livestock exchange, was struck by a stray bullet. Hundreds of persons, passing out of office buildings for lunch, dodged whizzing bullets.

Joe Clements, said to be the leader of a desperate "daylight bandit band," was killed.

J. C. Williams was captured. A third member of the gang escaped.

BOSTON NEWSPAPERS HAMPERED BY STRIKE

Boston.—Boston papers appeared in condensed form Tuesday following a sudden and "unauthorized" strike of several hundred type setters.

The printers walked out last night after learning that an arbitration board had refused their request for higher wages. The arbiters' decision was that the men should complete their contract at the same wages and the same hours now in force.

G. O. P. IN WAR OVER EFFORTS TO MAKE PEACE

Senate Leaders Are Planning to Retaliate for Adoption of Porter Plan.

BULLETIN
By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—The senate Tuesday received from the house and sent to conference the Porter peace resolution. By special arrangements among republican leaders, Senator Knox, author of the peace resolution which passed the senate, was put on the conference committee in place of Senator McCumber, North Dakota.

Washington.—How to make peace with Germany and not at the same time start war in Republican ranks here at home was the task confronting senate G. O. P. leaders Tuesday.

They were inclined to retaliate against the house which Monday passed the Porter peace resolution as a substitute for the senate Knox measure, by refusing to accept the Porter plan, and insisting on their own. That course, however, threatened indefinite delay in restoration of the peace status.

Senator Lodge made it clear that the senate has no intention of giving in to the house without a struggle.

"We will have something to say about the final form of this resolution, you may be sure," was the only comment Lodge would make Tuesday. He told inquiring senators, however, that he favored substituting the Knox resolution for Porter's.

Senator Knox, author of the senate resolution, told friends he had no pride of authorship but that his resolution was most carefully drawn and that it seemed to him to meet the situation.

A treaty of peace between the United States and Germany must and will follow the enactment of a peace resolution, republican house leaders who have recently conferred with President Harding said.

Such action is necessary, they said, to settle disputed questions that will arise between the two nations after the final passage of the peace resolutions and to establish clearly the rights of the United States and her nationals as to damages claims pending and future dealings with the German nation.

Many members think it would be wise to accept the Versailles document, minus the league of nations covenant, and with certain reservations, as the treaty to govern German American relations. Others favor using it as the basis of a new agreement by including virtually the same terms it imposes upon Germany.

House leaders Tuesday were recalling that President Harding in his address to congress said that it might be wiser to engage under the existing treaty.

SHOULD ORGANIZE TO GOVERN EXPORTS

Bernard Baruch Declares Prices For American Goods Are Made in England.

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—American farmers and businessmen should organize at once under the Webb-Kenyon act, to control exports of their commodities, Bernard Baruch declared in an exclusive interview Tuesday just before sailing for Europe.

Baruch said that this was the only means by which they could insure a fair price return on their investments and labor.

"The price of grain and cotton is now made in Liverpool, not in America," he said.

The financier explained that prices on these commodities are determined by the levels for American surplus, which is sold largely through the Liverpool market. This condition is reflected in some degree in other exports, he said.

"This situation is no discredit to the British," he said.

"Under present conditions it is perfectly natural and legitimate. And too, the British have always been good merchants."

Baruch insisted that his trip to Europe is intended solely to renew friendly relations with foreign officials which grew out of his chairmanship of the war industry board.

MILITARY FUNERAL FOR LEGION HEAD

A riderless horse was a feature of the procession at the military funeral in Cincinnati of Col. Frederick Galbraith, Jr., National Commander of the American legion, who lost his life in an automobile accident near Indianapolis. State and military officials as well as American legion delegates from all over the country attended the funeral.

CHICAGO LABOR LEADER ADMITS MAIL ROBBERY

"Big Tim" Murphy Confesses After Mail Clerk's Stories Implicate Him.

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—"Big Tim" Murphy, Chicago's most powerful labor leader, confessed complicity in the Dearborn station mail robbery early Tuesday, postal operatives said.

Following his confession, "Big Tim" led inspectors to the home of his father-in-law, William Diggs, where $113,900 in small bills out of the total loot of $350,000 was recovered.

Murphy was charged with participation in the daring mail robbery which occurred April 6. He was arrested at the headquarters of the Gas House Workers' union, of which he is president.

Vincent Cosmano, head of the Street Sweepers' union, and Edward Geary, Murphy's aides, were seized with him and held incommunicado.

Postal authorities said Murphy confessed after two postal clerks, "inside dupees," had implicated him.

Murphy succeeded "Mossy" Enright who was assassinated, as the labor czar of Chicago. He was arrested following Enright's death but was released.

John E. Norlon, assistant attorney general who aided the government in the investigation, stated Tuesday that certain confessions had been obtained from Ralph Teter and George W. Kicker railway mail clerks.

"Teter said he raised his hat which was the signal that money was in the pouches," said Norlon.

"Kicker said he then gave the signal to several men—bandits—who were playing ball in a nearby field.

"The 'ball players' dropped their balls and bats, ran over to the platform and took the pouches.

"The men said Murphy was the 'brains' of the plot, which was formed at Indianapolis.

"Murphy has confessed to have the money in his possession and said he was holding it for someone. We don't want a complete confession from him. We know enough already."

WAR IS RENEWED IN MINGO MINE FIELDS

Williamson, W. Va.—War broke out afresh in the Mingo county coal fields Tuesday.

Known casualties late Tuesday included two strikers killed and one state trooper probably fatally wounded.

The scene of the battle was in the mountains about Lick Creek coal col only where the strikers have been living for months. Major Tom Davis, in charge of enforcing martial law, Captain Backus of the state police, and Sheriff Pinson went to the camp this morning to apprehend parties known to have fired upon an automobile. On entering the colony they were greeted with a volley from the mountaineers. They retreated with a machine gun for a time but with no effect. They returned to Williamson, organized a posse of more than one hundred vigilantes and entrained again for the scene of the battle. The battle was still raging this afternoon.

MASKED MOB FLOGS MAN FOR QUARREL WITH WIFE

Dallas, Texas.—Edward Engers, 32 was spirited away from his old station here early Tuesday by a party of ten masked men who carried him south of the city and flogged him with a heavy lash, according to a report by Engers to police.

After being unmasked from the fence post used as a flogging post he was carried in an automobile to Red Oak, 20 miles south of Dallas, and dumped out with instructions to leave at once.

Engers declared the "masked ten" threatening letter last Wednesday.

Engers declared the "masked ten" informed him he was being punished for alleged trouble with his former wife.

MRS. ORTHWEIN GETS ONE DAY'S VACATION

Chicago.—The trial of Mrs. Cora Orthwein, charged with the murder of Herbert P. Ziegler will be continued Wednesday, when witnesses for the state will testify.

It was postponed because Lloyd Heth, prosecutor, is to argue before the supreme court at Springfield against granting a reprieve to Carl Wanderer, condemned murderer of his girl wife and the "ragged stranger" he hired to stage a fake holdup.

SHERIDAN DAIRY BARN DESTROYED BY FIRE

By United Press Leased Wire
Fond du Lac, Wis.—The E. T. Sheridan dairy barn and milk bottling plant, one of the finest in the country, was destroyed by fire this morning.

Four horses were lost in the flames. The loss is estimated at $30,000. Mr. Sheridan's herd of 100 pure bred Guernsey's was rescued from the burning building.

Congress Passes Peace Problems To President

JUDGE ON TRIAL IN ELECTION SCANDAL

Harding Wants to Negotiate a Treaty Which Will Be Satisfactory to Allies.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington.—First steps toward the making of a treaty of peace between the United States and Germany will be taken immediately after both houses of congress pass the peace resolution.

This became known officially today. Until the congressional resolution is out of the way, international negotiations cannot be begun. The resolution itself does not bind Germany or in any way establish peace with Germany. This fact is recognized by President Harding and his associates. They believe, however, that when congress passes the resolution, a certain psychological unrest will have been allayed because so far as domestic laws are concerned, the phrases "duration of the war" and "the present war emergency" used in so many statutes, will have been wiped off the law books.

Mr. Harding realizes that the peace resolution of Congress goes only part of the way and that he must then negotiate a treaty which will establish diplomatic relations between the United States and Germany. The executive has felt that it was unnecessary to move in that direction until congress had expressed itself. Now with the prospect of an early passage of the peace resolution, Mr. Harding feels that the responsibility for the next step is upon him. He has indicated that he will not delay action. In response to an inquiry as to whether the treaty of Versailles would be used as a basis for peace-making with Germany, he said that the president had not withdrawn the statement made in his address to Congress, namely, that it might be wiser to "engage under the existing treaty" than to attempt a new treaty with Germany.

The truth of the matter, as explained by the department of state, is that the United States is not dealing with Germany at all but with the allies. Nominally Germany signs the treaty but having given away all her rights to the allies, the latter must say whether the provisions of the new treaty with Germany are satisfactory. And it is the purpose of the American government to write the kind of treaty that will bring harmony rather than discord to the ranks of the allies.

TWO MOONSHINERS KILLED BY POLICE

Terre Haute, Ind.—Two moonshiners were killed by special officers at Centenary near here, late Monday night.

Jesse Runyan and his son Ben were shot to death as they drove in an automobile up to their still near Centenary.

Roy Strause and Roy Wright, special officers employed by the Vermilion county commissioners to enforce prohibition in the county, commanded the two Runyans and three companions to leave the automobile and throw up their hands.

WANT TO KNOW WHERE BUYER'S MONEY GOES

Washington.—Distribution of the consumers cash outlay for food and other necessities between the farmer, producer, railroads, middlemen and retailer is being investigated by the federal trade commission, it was learned Tuesday.

A report will be forwarded to President Harding soon.

Farmers produce each year about $15,000,000,000 worth of stock, meat, bearing animals, food, grain, wool, cotton and other products, according to the agriculture department.

The public, however, pays approximately three times this amount for farm products in the shape of food and clothing. The railroads receive about $4,000,000,000 a year for hauling the goods.

Between $1,000,000,000 and $21,000,000,000 goes into the pockets of dealers who handle the commodities and raw materials between the producer and consumer.

INCREASE DEPUTY ARMY TO PREVENT MOB RULE

Princeton, Ind.—Spurred on to greater activity by Governor McCray, authorities of Gibson county were making every effort Tuesday to prevent further mob rule such as drove foreign labor from the Pike and Gibson county coal fields.

While a special grand jury probed the activities of 1,000 miners' vigilantes, Sheriff Flowers employed extra deputies to handle any situation that might arise from the presence here of the foreigners ejected from Oakland City, Francisco, Petersburg and other neighboring mine centers.

SENATE WILL VOTE ON PACKER BILL WEDNESDAY

Washington.—The senate will vote upon the packer control bill on Thursday under a unanimous consent agreement reached Tuesday.

The agreement proposed by Senator Norris, chairman of the agricultural committee, was reached after a brief debate. To give full opportunity to discuss the measure, the senate will meet an hour earlier Wednesday and Thursday.

THREE DEGREES ARE VOTED BY COLLEGE BOARD

Lawrence Dormitory Expenses Have Increased 100 Per Cent in Three Years.

Dormitory expenses of Lawrence college have increased more than 100 per cent in the last three years according to the annual report made Monday afternoon by President Samuel Plantz to the college boards of trustees and visitors in a joint meeting in the college library.

This striking feature of the president's report showed that dormitory expenses for the year just closing were $109,800 as compared with $51,487 for the year of 1917-18.

Twenty-three members of the two boards attended the meeting. They were: Lewis M. Alexander of Port Edwards, president of the board, Theobald Otjen of Milwaukee, James A. Wood and George Baldwin of Appleton, Fred G. Dickerson of Chicago, Rev. Henry Colman of Milwaukee, the Rev. John S. Davis of Milwaukee, William H. Hatton of New London, Judson G. Rosebush of Appleton, Karl Matthe of Wausau, the Rev. Robert S. Ingraham of Milwaukee, Tusshus B. Garton of Sheboygan, Miss Harriet Nicholson of Appleton, James S. Roewe of Appleton, George A. Whiting of Neenah, Herman G. Sackler of Appleton, Gustav A. Seefeld of Milwaukee, Mrs. Kate Brokaw of Appleton, the Rev. Roscoe A. Barnes of Madison, the Rev. Frank L. Roberts of Milwaukee, the Rev. Guy W. Campbell of Lancaster, the Rev. Thomas D. Williams of Appleton and the Rev. Richard Evans of Wausau.

Three honorary degrees.

The board voted to confer three honorary degrees, that of doctor in divinity to Frank Lee Roberts of Milwaukee and Henry Guy Goodsell of Madison and doctor of literature to Frederick C. Morehouse of Milwaukee. The list of graduates who are to receive degrees will be compiled and approved Tuesday afternoon.

Four instructors are retiring from the faculty this month. Miss Mabel Eddy, who has been connected with the college for the last 18 years as associate professor in French, is retiring on a Carnegie Foundation pension. Miss Gwendolyn H. Gray, an instructor in English, and Miss Adeline M. Link, assistant professor of chemistry, have resigned. Louis C. Baker, professor of modern languages, requested a year's leave of absence that he might extend his studies in France.

New instructors who are to fill the vacancies are Miss Margaret Munson, who is coming from France to instruct in the French language, Miss Eva Fillmore as instructor in psychology, from the University of Minnesota, Miss Mary West as instructor in French and Spanish, coming from Ohio Wesleyan University, Harry Golder coming from Harvard and Miss Marjorie Stuart coming from Columbia university, to the English department; Miss Lucene Robinson coming from the University of Chicago to instruct in chemistry, J. S. Gustor, who is returning to Lawrence as instructor in ancient history after two years work in the Goodyear Rubber company's educational department. There are no changes in the conservatory of music faculty.

Salaries Are Increased.

An increase of $250 in the salaries of all full professors who have been with the college five years or more, was voted by the board. It was also decided to celebrate the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the college next January. Judson G. Rosebush and President Plantz were named on the committee to prepare for this event. They are to appoint the other officers to assist them.

Two new trustees were elected, Roy Cliff of Scriba, O., and Mrs. J. B. Hamilton of Two Rivers.

Gifts Total $425,000.

In his report, President Plantz stated that $425,000 had been given to the college during the year on the $500,000 that is being raised for endowment. A movement was started at the meeting to organize the alumni to raise $50,000 of the remainder. Samuel Gibson was named financial secretary to organize the alumni to raise $50,000.

The board voted to authorize the committee on buildings and grounds to build an addition to Science hall this summer, having the work completed, if possible, in time for the opening of school next fall.

The following budget was approved for the coming year. In the college of liberal arts, $20,700 for administration, $74,800 for maintenance, $84,800 for instruction, in the conservatory of music, $12,000 for instruction, administration and maintenance.

MUSIC GRADUATES PRESENT RECITAL

Banquet and Reception Follows
Program in Lawrence Memorial Chapel.

A large crowd was in Lawrence Memorial chapel Monday evening to attend the commencement concert of Lawrence Conservatory of Music. A delightful program consisting of musical numbers by students receiving certificates or classifications was presented. The Pullinwider string quartet consisting of Percy Pullinwider, first violin; Marion Miller, second violin; Ruth Schumacher, viola and Mr. Zickler, violin-cello, played a charming group.

Miss Iva Mae Loomis who finished the normal course in voice sang a group of solos accompanied by Miss Mildred Bunnell. After which Miss Ruth Doughty, senior in piano, played a Bach number with Gladys Liss Brannan at the second piano. Miss Marion Hanson, graduate in public school methods and junior in voice, sang two solos. Mendelssohn's "Capriccio Brillante" was played by Miss Lucille Meusel accompanied by Viola Buntrock at the second piano and the string quartet. The program concluded with a group of organ numbers by Miss Doris Brenner.

Certificates were presented by Carl Waterman, dean of the conservatory to members of the graduating class in public school music and in public school drawing, as well as to those students finishing the normal training course in piano, voice, violin and cello. The graduates were guests of the conservatory alumni association at a banquet after the concert in the studio of the dean. Miss Mabel Verhulst welcomed the class of 1921 into the alumni association and Miss Margaret Austin responded. Nettie Steninger Pullinwider, president of the alumni association, greeted the alumni members who had returned for the reunion. It was learned that the classes of 1915 and 1920 had the largest representation.

Among the alumni members attending the event were Mary Breitbeck, Dederick; Hazel Weiler Mies; Bau Claire; Cordell Freiberger; Bernice Swift; New London; Eva Jersild; Neenah; Vera Kershaw; Pentimiere; Alice Carr; Juneau; Ruth Nelson; Racine; Helen Kelter; Irene Albrecht; Irene Bidwell; Appleton.

NO DIFFICULTY IN HANDLING CROWDS

Police Thankful for Splendid Cooperation Given by the Public.

Excellent cooperation was shown by the public with the police department Monday in obeying the orders concerning traffic. Not an accident was reported while the public funerals were in progress. There was no crowding or confusion and everybody courteously obeyed the requests of police officers stationed at various points.

"I want to thank the public in general for their conduct on the streets and in the cemeteries," said Chief George T. Prim. "It is a credit to Appleton to have people so considerate and it is due to the way they conducted themselves that we had no confusion. We had no difficulty whatever in handling the thousands of people in fact, they handled themselves."

"I also want to thank the autoists for complying so readily with my request to keep their machines out of streets where the parade was to form and pass. There was not a machine in the restricted districts and none to hinder services in Riverside cemetery."

Meet at Lake Geneva.
The International Employed Y. M. C. A. Officers council will meet this summer at Lake Geneva, June 23 to July 2. T. E. Dennison, boys' work secretary; George W. Werner, general secretary; and R. H. Starkey, physical director, will attend from the local association.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kamps of Milwaukee are visiting relatives in Appleton, where they intend to make their permanent home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hegner and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hegner have returned from Milwaukee, where they attended the annual convention of the Lutheran Aid association.

Miss Barbara Kamps has gone to Chicago for a week's visit with friends.

U. S. Needs Law To Protect Aliens Visiting Its Shores

Former President Taft Tells How American Government Has Been Humiliated.

BY WILLIAM H. TAFT

Copyright, 1921, by Public Ledger Co., Philadelphia.—Senator Kellogg has introduced a bill to enable the United States Government to keep its contracts with other governments to protect their citizens or subjects against forcible invasion of their rights. One of the usual stipulations of the treaties of amity and commerce which we make with all nations is a mutual agreement that the citizens of each country residing or passing through the other's jurisdiction shall enjoy freedom from unlawful invasion of their rights. Under existing law, the only authorities having power to protect an alien in the enjoyment of these treaty rights are the state governments and their subordinate branches, the cities and towns.

Fifty years ago the supreme court of the United States held that it was fully within the power of congress by statute to make a breach of an alien's right to peaceable residence in the United States secured by treaty an offense against the United States and punishable in its courts. This is the purpose of Senator Kellogg's bill. The case was, however, an indictment for such a breach of an alien's rights, because the statute under which the indictment was drawn did not contain the necessary words to indicate that congress intended to include aliens within its protection. Then, and at once, congress should have amended the statute; but in spite of the urgent recommendations of four presidents, it has failed to do so.

Senator Kellogg's bill is another attempt to remedy this glaring defect in our federal law. The reasoning by which the power of congress to pass such a law is established is clear. The right of an alien secured by a treaty of the United States is a right under the laws of the United States. Congress has the inherent power to enforce a law of the United States by making a breach of it a crime, or by imposing upon the executive the duty of protecting any one having a right under the law against its forcible breach.

We have had a number of instances in which other governments have appealed to our national government to punish those who have violated the rights of their nationals in this country, and we have been put to the national humiliation of saying we cannot perform the contract we made with them; but all we can do is to ask the state government to institute prosecutions against the offenders. The murder or robbery or other outrage was probably made possible by the supineness of the state authorities, and we are in the shameful necessity of asking those authorities to punish the offenders; always a futile request.

Senator Kellogg's bill is in the form recommended for passage by the American Bar association, which has discussed fully the subject. At one time, many years ago, that association was led by a narrow view of a narrow committee into a disapproval of a measure on the ground of its constitutional invalidity. But so clearly erroneous was this view that the matter was taken up again and after careful consideration the present bill was drafted and its validity fully sustained by the association of eminent lawyers.

To withhold from the national government the power to perform its own contract to protect citizens or subjects of another country is to endanger the good feeling between the two countries. Quick sharp restraint and prosecution by the United States government of irresponsible mob violence toward aliens entitled to federal protection make for international peace. The very fact that those who take part in such mobs are likely to be carried into a federal court, and there tried and convicted without fear or favor will restrain many who might otherwise join in such disturbances. No one except a secret sympathizer with such cruel attacks upon helpless aliens as we have seen should object to this Kellogg bill.

NOMINATE VOECKS FOR HIGH OFFICE

Appleton Men Return From State Convention of Lutheran Aid Societies.

Albert VoECKs, national secretary of the Aid Association for Lutherans, was nominated by the Wisconsin Federation at its convention Saturday in Milwaukee as a director of the national body. His name will be proposed for election next fall. Louis Froude was reelected secretary and treasurer of the state organization. Those who attended from Appleton included G. D. Ziegler, national president; Mr. VoECKs, Mr. Freude, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hegner, Mr. and Mrs. John Hegner, Mrs. G. D. Ziegler and daughter Esther, and Richard Herrmann.

Convention meetings were held in the Republican hotel, E. A. Flogt, Milwaukee, was nominated director of the national association. Other state officers elected were Louis Muelbert, Milwaukee, president; Edward Schmidt, Sheboygan, vice president; Peter Heinz, Sheboygan, H. J. Zaut-

EXPECT 1,000 AT BIG CHURCH PICNIC

Congregational Church Committees Complete Arrangements for Big Affair.

Special interurban cars are to leave College-ave. and Oneida-st. at 12:15 Wednesday afternoon to convey members of the First Congregational church, their families and friends to the all-church field day at Sunset point, Kimberly. Approximately 1,000 people are expected to attend. A second distribution of car tickets will be made at the church Wednesday morning.

Flags and arrows will be placed along the route from the Kimberly interurban station to the park to guide those who are unfamiliar with its location. Automobiles taking the route south of the river also will be guided to the picnic place. All car owners have been requested to start for the park earlier so they can use their machines to meet the interurbans and convey women and children across Kimberly bridge to the grounds.

Swings are to be erected, baseball diamonds prepared and a volleyball court mapped out. Tables and chairs have been placed about the park and a coffee serving station and refreshment stands erected.

The program includes a basket dinner at 1 o'clock. Then follow a fast series of events that will resemble a 3-ring circus. The kiddies will have their games and contests; there will be baseball for the young men; volleyball for the lovers of that game, and activities for women. Music will be furnished by a "rube" band made up of Lawrence college students. "Something doing every minute" is the purpose of the entertainment committee. In case of rain the picnic will be postponed to a date which will be fixed later.

mer, West Bend, members of the executive committee.

Mr. Ziegler was one of the speakers at the banquet in the evening, attended by about 250 delegates. The Rev. Otto Hagedorn, Milwaukee, was toastmaster. Other speakers were the Rev. William Dallman, Milwaukee, and Prof. W. Huth, Watertown.

Card of Thanks
The members of the Jahnke family wish to express their heartfelt appreciation and sincere thanks to neighbors and friends. The Rainbow Veterans, The American Legion Post and The Citizens of Appleton for their sympathy, floral offerings and above all the tribute of respect which was evidenced by the thousands in the line of march and at the final military rites of their beloved son and brother. adv.

START OUSTER MOVE ON MAYOR OF RACINE

Racine.—Mayor A. J. Lunt was Monday afternoon served with summons and complaint in a special proceeding started in the Circuit court seeking to oust him from office. It is declared in the complaint in which Joseph Bradac appears as the relator, that excessive sums of money were spent in Lunt's interest during the spring election, that hired workers were at the polls and that thousands of circulars were sent through the mails.

It was also claimed that notaries subscribed to blank affidavits and that the Lunt committee swore in 1,400 voters, many of whom were non-residents and some minors. Many persons signed more affidavits than allowed by law it is claimed and that as many as fourteen such affidavits were signed by several when the legal limit is five.

Bradac was a member of the campaign committee of Robert Hurley, Lunt's defeated opponent.

PYTHIAN MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR DEAD

The Knights of Pythias held their annual memorial service for deceased members at Castle hall at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. Attorney J. L. Johns delivered the memorial address and Winfield Alexander of Lawrence college, rendered two solos. The services at the cemetery were conducted by the officers and the graves of the 28 deceased members were decorated with flowers. The only member who died during the year was Alva Hinchliff.

Grocers Meeting.
The Appleton Grocers association will hold a regular meeting at South Masonic hall at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening. It is possible that preliminary arrangements for the state convention in August will be discussed.

Naturalization Hearings.
Attorney George N. Danielson of the United States naturalization service was in Appleton Sunday enroute to Eagle River, where a hearing was held Monday afternoon. He will return to Appleton to attend the hearings in circuit court here before Judge E. V. Werner on Thursday and Friday of this week. A hearing will be held at Shawano on Wednesday and at Antigo on Saturday.

Card of Thanks
Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lang and family wish to extend their thanks to Father Josephat, American Legion, friends, relatives and neighbors for their assistance and floral offerings during the funeral services of their late son and brother Wm. J. Lang. adv.

INTERLAKE BOSSES HAVE DAY OF FUN

Department superintendents of the Interlake Pulp and Paper Co. staged a picnic and outing at "Garlic Island" Sunday. Nineteen men went to the picnic ground on a gasoline boat in the morning, returning early in the evening. "Dad" Miller was chef and prepared a dinner which would have satisfied a king. Arthur Rock showed real prowess as a fisherman when he hooked a pike which was promptly disposed of.

A feature of the outing was a baseball game which was won by J. T. Whelan's team, 18 to 17. The ball was smashed to all corners of the lot and the fielders had a hard time trying to pick the ball out of the tall grass, pulling up a handful of hay every time they tried to throw the pellet.

BURNING MEAT CAUSES FIRE DEPARTMENT RUN

Believing the house was afire, neighbors summoned the fire department to the home of William F. Gressen, 555 Oneida-st., about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. Smoke was issuing from the kitchen and when firemen crawled through a window they found that some member of the family had left meat cooking on the gas stove, presumably while downtown to see the parade. The water boiled away, causing the meat to burn and filling the room with smoke. A bull dog kept the firemen guessing until he backed into the next room and the door was closed against him.

Textiles Become Tired, Too

Haven't you noticed how droopy your fine blankets become, about this time of year?

Textiles tire, too—they need a spring tonic.

We have this tonic in our modern washing process. It will renew the life of your beautiful blankets, restore their fine, soft fleeciness, prepare them for summer storage.

Send them to us—you'll be delighted when you take them out next fall to find how much better they have kept; how much warmer and downier they are.

Just phone—we'll send our driver promptly.

MY FIRST JOB

A. F. TUTTLE.

The Tuttle Press Company.
My first job at which I made a little real money was when I began business while attending the seventh and eighth grade schools in Kalamazoo, Mich.

Scratch pads or paper tablets were not as common in those days as at present, and to supply my own needs I purchased a little print paper from a bookbinder and made my own tablets. My father assisted me to make a device for cutting and trimming the tablets and to make a good job the tablets were sewed instead of being glued.

My tablets looked good to the boys and soon I was earning my spending money making tablets.

I purchased most of my paper from the Kalamazoo paper mill which was the forerunner by many years of the great paper industry now located in Kalamazoo.

I can hardly say that I helped to establish the paper industry in Kalamazoo, but surely that was the time and place that I first entered the paper game.

FORD CAR IS STOLEN HERE MONDAY NIGHT

A Ford coupe owned by R. R. Will, Milwaukee, was stolen between 5:30 and 10:30 Monday evening from Washington-st., near the Sherman house. The machine was driven here by Mr. Will and left standing at that point. A search has been in progress over a large surrounding territory by the police, but the machine was not located. Its license number is 119-981.

Barn Dance

Otto Zschechmer will hold a barn dance Tuesday evening in his new barn in the town of Grand Chute. Stecker orchestra will furnish the music.

Tourists Fill Camps

H. W. Getschow and Henry Gosen of Appleton and George Getschow of Chicago, returned home Sunday night from Pickerel Lake, where they spent a week fishing at Mr. Gosen's cottage. They caught a large quantity of pike, pickerel and bass and said that tourists were rapidly filling up the cottages. They made the trip by automobile and found the roads in fairly good condition.

WOMAN INJURED WHEN CAR RUNS INTO ANOTHER

Miss Ida Chudacoff, 354 Second-ave., suffered a gash over the nose Monday afternoon when her automobile, driven by Raymond Braeger, 918 Second-ave., collided with a car driven by Carl Greunke, at the corner of Ryan and Locust-sts. The Greunke machine was stopping to discharge a passenger when the Chudacoff automobile turned the corner and crashed into it. The axle of the Chudacoff car was broken and a fender bent on the Greunke machine.

You can now buy real epsom salts without the awful taste and nausea, by asking your druggist for a handy package of "Epsomade Salts" which looks and acts exactly like epsom salts, because it is pure epsom salts combined with fruit derivative salts, giving it the taste of sparkling lemonade.

Take a spoonful in a glass of cold water whenever you feel bloated, head-achy or constipated. "Epsomade Salts" is the much talked of discovery of the American Epsom Association.

Their Medicine Chest For 20 Years

IT is characteristic of folks after they pass the allotted "three score years and ten," to look back over the days that are gone and thoughtfully live them over.

I find myself, at seventy-one, frequently drifting back a quarter of a century, when I see myself in the little drug store I owned at Bolivar, Mo., making and selling a vegetable compound to my friends and customers—what was then known only as Dr. Lewis' Medicine for Stomach, Liver and Bowel Complaints.

For many years while I was perfecting my formula I studied and investigated the laxatives and cathartics on the market and became convinced that their main fault was not that they did not act on the bowels, but that their action was too violent and drastic, and upset the system of the user; which was due to the fact that they were not thorough enough in their action, some simply acting on the upper or small intestines, while others would act only on the lower or large intestines, and that they almost invariably produced a habit requiring augmented doses.

I believed that a preparation to produce the best effect must first tone the liver, then act on the stomach and entire alimentary system. If this was accomplished, the medicine would produce a mild, but thorough elimination of the waste without the usual sickening sensations, and make the user feel better at once.

After experimenting with hundreds of different compounds, I at last perfected the formula that is now known as Nature's Remedy, which I truly believe goes further and does more than any laxative on the market today. The thousands of letters from users have convinced me I was right, and that the user of Nature's Remedy as a family medicine, even though he may have used it for twenty-five years, never has to increase the dose.

My knowledge of medicine and the results of its use in my own family and among my friends, before I ever offered it for sale, caused me to have great faith in Nature's Remedy from the very first.

And now as I find myself nearing the age when I must how to the inevitable and go to another life, my greatest pleasure is to sit each day and read the letters that each mail brings from people as old or older than I, who tell of having used Nature's Remedy for ten, fifteen and twenty years, and how they and their children and grandchildren have been benefited by it.

It is a comforting thought, my friends, for a man at my age to feel that aside from his own success, one has done something for his fellow man. My greatest satisfaction, my greatest happiness today, is the knowledge that tonight more than one million people will take a Nature's Remedy (NR Tablet) and will be better, healthier, happier people for it. I hope you will be one of them.

REDUCING TEACHERS SALARIES
The school of the Outagamie county rural school boards in voting a reduction of 20 per cent in wages of rural teachers for the coming year is, we believe, unwarranted, unwise and far from the best interests of the county and does not meet the will of the majority of parents whose children are entrusted to these teachers for their early education.

School officials of the county who are more interested in the cause of education than in saving a few dollars, say that this movement cannot help but lower the efficiency of our rural teaching force, and that it is radically unfair to cut wages of all teachers alike regardless of their ability or fitness for the work. In recent years efforts have been made to bring the teaching profession up to a salary level in keeping with other commercial positions, but in spite of the fact that salaries have been raised, thousands of teachers have shifted into more remunerative lines of work.

It is fortunate, indeed, that we can still find teachers who will continue in the profession at higher wages. But in Outagamie county along comes the rural school boards and say that the teachers for the coming year must take 20 per cent less, regardless of their competence or fitness. It is a step backward in our country school system. It cannot help but prove that very thing. If salary reductions at this time were warranted, it would be a different matter, but they are not. Most rural teachers are compelled to pay board and room in the vicinity in which they teach, but we have not seen any record of a 20 per cent cut in these essentials. It seems, too, that in this instance the qualifications of teachers is secondary. The first question is "how little can we get teachers to work for?"

Those who want better rural schools, better early training for their sons and daughters should promptly raise their voices in protest against this unwarranted action. Outagamie county has the means and ability to give its boys and girls the best in schooling. Only the best of teachers should be engaged for this purpose—teachers who have been trained for their work, who understand the minds and characteristics of children and how to get the best from them, who are acquainted with rural problems, and who have done enough teaching under careful supervision to know how to teach. Such teachers cannot, however, be found for Outagamie county if such an "inducement" is held out to them as a 20 per cent cut in salary.

NEGROES FOR THE NORTH

The Philadelphia Record connects the shocking race riots in Tulsa, Oklahoma, East St. Louis, Chicago and Omaha with "the remarkable transference in recent years of large black populations from Southern to Northern states, with consequent disturbance of social conditions in many communities in which the Negro was not formerly a conspicuous factor." After giving figures showing a considerable movement of Negroes from South to North and indicating that it will go on increasing, the Record says further: "Both the social and political consequences of this migration seem likely to be increasingly important in the future. The white man of the North must take up the burden which is falling from the shoulders of the southern white, and he is likely to find it among his most troublesome problems in the years to come."

It might well have been added that as the northern whites take up a share of this burden they will become less critical than formerly of the white south's failure in the past and in the present to avoid race difficulties. But to say that the "burden" already is "falling" from the shoulders of the south is to leap far ahead of the facts as they are at present. The south is still the home of the great bulk of the Negroes. The estimate that half a million to a million blacks have migrated to the north and west during the past ten years may be sufficiently correct. The census of 1920 showed an actual decrease of the Negro population in Kentucky, Tennessee and Mississippi and a similar tendency to a less extent in all the southern states. There has been a great falling off, for example, in South Carolina, one of the only two southern states with a greater population of blacks than whites. South Carolina's negro majority in 1900 was 224,514 and in 1910 it was 156,682; in 1920 it was only 46,181.

That northward migration will continue is probable. No doubt impetus has recently been imparted to it by the wide discussion of Governor Dorsey's crusade against peonage in Georgia. The blacks go northward and westward in the hope of getting better wages and finding better conditions. But sometimes they must think that they have leaped from the frying pan into the fire, for they can hardly fail to prefer southern lynchings of Negro criminals or suspected criminals to northern and western race riots in which all Negroes are attacked and the torch is applied to whole municipal sections occupied by Negroes.

If in the future there shall be a more or less equal distribution of the blacks throughout the United States, and if meanwhile the vacancy in the south shall have been filled with white settlers and native increase, it will be better off than it has been for a century. Though such a distribution may not be welcomed in the north and west, it has long been the hope of thoughtful southerners, notwithstanding the industrial south's inevitable opposition to the temporary inconvenience of a reduction of its cheap labor supply.

NOT SO BAD AS IT SEEMS

On its face, the statement of Charles M. Schwab, that the steel industry is experiencing its worst slump in 40 years, that production is on the basis of about 25 per cent of capacity, is discouraging. But it is less discouraging if we remember that "it is always darkest just before the dawn." When we realize that the virtual non-production of steel as well as other goods over any considerable period of time means that sooner or later the shortage will have to be made up, the outlook is more hopeful.

Just when the business revival which must accompany the production of goods to meet demand, will occur, cannot be predicted with certainty. There are many evidences that it will not be as long delayed as some of the pessimists would have us believe. The reports from Europe as a whole indicate that a slow but sure change for the better is occurring. This is bound to be reflected in better conditions in this country.

But leaving Europe out of the equation, it is not reasonable to suppose that the combined genius of the hundred and ten million people in this country is unequal to the task of making the necessary readjustments in their industrial machine, so that it will function to produce the goods which they require for their comfort and happiness. In the final analysis that is all there is to the problem. Business, reduced to its simplest terms, is merely supplying each other's wants. In the modern world this is a complicated process, but it is absurd to assume that the people are not capable of soon getting control of the machine which they have created for this purpose.

CLOTHES
By Berton Braley

He had an opinion he wished to express. A moral he longed to apply. Regarding such follies of feminine dress as skirts that were narrow and high. Or openwork hosiery, waisties that were sheer. And shoes that were tall as to heel. He didn't approve of such feminine gear—A fact he was quick to reveal.
He jeered women's fashions as silly and vain. Unhealthy, immodest and wrong—An attitude which he seemed bound to explain At length and in full to the throng.
"The clothing which women are wearing," he cried, "Was certainly made and designed To show that there's nothing but nonsense inside The average feminine mind!"
And while he discoursed in this eloquent way, He freely and fully perspired. Because, in the heat of a midsummer day, His body was fully attired In a thick woolen suit and a hard-bosomed shirt And a collar as stiff as a slate. With his feet in some pointed-toed brogans that hurt And his head in a black derby hat! (Copyright 1921 by Newspaper Enterprise)

DON'T LET THIS ANHEDONIA GET YOU

Just to make sure we all understand let me say again that anhedonia is incapacity to take pleasure in being alive. We are now harping particularly on splanchnic anhedonia. Not a new disease, but just a sort of reminiscence phrase which expresses the gloom that darkens the existence of those who drift along on something short of health plus, when that drifting is due to displacement or sagging of divers and sundry innards.

Like eyestrain, tuberculosis, cardiovascular degeneration, or senile alopecia (denudation of the dome in oldsters), pronounced displacement or sagging of one or more abdominal viscera (doctors call it splanchnoptosis—ain't it fierce?) may occur and exist for a considerable time before the victim comprehends or discovers what the matter. That is to say, in each and all of the conditions mentioned, although the victim, unless mentally dull, does recognize that he lacks health plus or is not perfectly well, he or she may experience no symptoms which would direct attention to the origin of the trouble. Just anhedonia, in other words.

Now, if I suspected that any reader of these lines would follow what I have said on this subject, to the unwarranted conclusion that he or she, having this here now anhedonia for certain, must therefore be suffering from a sagging stomach or something like that, I'd discontinue this series right here and return to good standard subjects like over-eating and bad air which do little harm to even healthy persons who just imagine they have "em."

It may be safe to quote from the essay of Dr. Charles A. L. Reed, previously referred to, "Every case of chronic constipation, every case of chronic headaches, every case of psychosis (mental disease or disturbance), every case of chronic toxemia whether convulsive (meaning epilepsy) or non-convulsive (perhaps migraine), should be examined with reference to the presence or absence of splanchnoptosis (sagging or displacement of abdominal organs)." (All the parenthetical explanations are my own). Dr. Reed says that when the usual clinical history has been taken the patient should be "stripped and a physical inventory carefully made from head to foot, standing and lying. Special search should be made for possible foci of infection not only as primary but as ancillary factors in the case. The abdomen should be gone over, first with the patient on his back, next with him erect. . . . Then all cases, especially in the present status of the whole question, should be given an X-ray study."

This isolated quotation from Dr. Reed's essay conveys a good deal which I shall consider at length in further talks on the subject.

"With the patient lying on his back, these notes (that is, the sounds the physical effects on percussion of the abdomen to outline the situation of the various viscera) will be found approximately in their normal positions."

In other words, posture is an important factor in the causation and relief of displaced viscera.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Dry, Rough Skin

I am a girl sixteen years old, and I am troubled with a horrid dry, rough condition of my skin. The skin peels in a fine, dry scurf and it is very discouraging. I have been advised that it is my blood and that I should take ——— to clear my blood of poison.

ANSWER—Your grateful adviser has all the complexity of ignorance. Your blood is no doubt as pure as blood can be. And if it were impure, I can assure you the noetrum your friends advised would not purify it in the slightest degree. All that blood purifying dodge is obsolete now. You should consult a reputable physician, preferably one who specializes in skin disease.

How Do You Laugh?

Can you give me the physiology of laughter? (Miss L. H.)

ANSWER—Laughter is an automatic reaction of various muscle groups to various stimuli. It sneers with nose and eyes, grin with cheeks and nose, chuckle with diaphragm and throat. Derisive laughter is a chest reaction. Genuine joyful laughter is abdominal. It's a sad affliction, the futile abdomen. Genuine laughter increases intra-abdominal tension and greatly improves general circulation and well-being.

Galvanized Vessels

If milk is allowed to stand over night in a galvanized vessel would the milk have any poisonous effect? (Mrs. R.)

ANSWER—Neither galvanized nor aluminum ware will have any injurious effect on milk or other foods contained or cooked therein.

Another Food Fight

Is there any objection (I am a woman 55 years old) to my drinking a glass of orange juice at the beginning of my breakfast, and finishing breakfast with a glass of milk? And do I commit any hygienic sin in taking half a grapefruit and a glass of milk at the same meal? (S. C.)

ANSWER—No. Don't let those far-away fishologists start any theoretic quarrels between the items of your diet. Your own natural taste is the best guide.

A Skyscraper Capital?
By Frederic J. Haskin
Washington, D. C.—Is the city of Washington to become a tangled range of skyscrapers, like lower New York, or is it to be developed as a thing of balanced architectural beauty as its founders planned?
Now that the war emergency, with its justification for housing the government anywhere, is over, this question is receiving a good deal of discussion. Some think that the old buildings and the temporary buildings should be replaced by typical modern office structures, so that the greatest possible amount of space may be had for the money expended. Others contend that the Capital of the nation should be a thing of beauty, and that each building should be a unit in a carefully considered artistic scheme.
Meantime, what actually exists is a curious mixture. The old government buildings, of which the State, War and Navy building is the best example, are curious survivals of an old type of architecture. They are picturesque, uncomfortable and inconvenient. Most of the more recent permanent buildings, like the new Interior Building, are exactly like the office structures found in every American city. And all about and between these representatives of the old America and the new are the acres and acres of wooden shacks, built during the war and still occupied because there is nowhere else for their occupants to go.

Haskin

L'Enfant, the man who planned this city, seems to be forgotten, and with him is going some of the picturesqueness which has always made Washington a sight to be treasured. Not even the most amateurish traveler would stop to gaze at any of the new red tape factories, or describe one of them in letters home. It is true that some of the newer buildings are strictly temporary in character. Thus, the Department of Justice, a tall white stone office building is merely rented by the government. Some days—perhaps when present commodious quarters are outgrown—there will be a specially built Department of Justice.

Temporary Buildings
The huge Munitions and Navy Buildings in Potomac Park where Washington's war shacks were thrown up are temporary, substantial as they look. But until the War and Navy Departments find enough room somewhere else, the obstructions to the view of the Potomac River obviously cannot be removed.

The War Risk skyscraper is also regarded as a temporary affair, so far as the Government is concerned. The site had been dug for a private office building when the government bought it to put up a shop large enough to house the war insurance operations. The result is a honeycomb of office rooms fitted together with the one idea of getting as many rooms as possible into a given space. It will remain government property, no doubt, as long as the War Risk regiment is in service.

The gentlemen of 1872, who protested at the State, War and Navy building four stories high, with a mansard attic as an additional flaunt at tradition, should be here to look up the War Risk Building's eleven closely packed stories.

In 1872, two stories was the proper height for a government office structure, and the White House, Capitol, Treasury and Patent Office, were all not more than three stories above the ground. This gave uniformity of style to the government architecture and it was achieved by using different kinds of columns and porticos after Greek and Roman examples.

The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medicinal, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. When should a poultry flock be culled? W. C.

A. If a single systematic culling is made, it should be done in August or September. At this time it is easier to estimate the relative value of a hen as an egg producer and to weed out poor ones. It is best, however, to cull out whenever discovered, any hen which is sick, which is very thin, or which shows evidences of non-productive weakness or poor vitality.

Q. What United States Mint holds the most money? E. G. J.

A. The New York Assay Office, which is a mint institution, but does not coin money, is considered to hold the greatest amount of money of any mint in the United States. However, the United States mint at Philadelphia, Pa., is considered the largest coining mint.

Q. Please tell me the names of the sons and grandsons of Benjamin Harrison, one of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence. M. H. C.

A. Benjamin Harrison, the signer of the Declaration of Independence, had three sons, Benjamin Harrison of Berkeley, whose son was also named Benjamin Harrison; second, William Henry Harrison, whose son was John Scott Harrison, and thirdly Carter Bassett Harrison, who had two sons, named William Allen Harrison and Benjamin C. Harrison. William Henry Harrison was the ninth President and his grandson, Benjamin Harrison, was twenty-third President of the United States.

Q. Please decide a very heated argument as to whether a mouse develops into a rat. H. P. S.

A. The Department of Agriculture says that there is no truth to the statement that a mouse develops into a rat. There is a difference between rats and mice. Both rats and mice belong to the Rodentia, an order which comprises more than a third of all living species of mammals.

Q. Is teak wood used in modern shipbuilding? A. S.

A. This valuable wood is coming into wider use in modern shipbuilding, particularly in such places as decks and pilot-houses, which are constantly exposed to sea and weather. Teak wood does not warp and worms do not eat it. Nature has endowed this wood with a preservative oil which keeps out water and is either offensive or poisonous to the destructive teredo.

Q. How far off is the visible horizon at sea level? C. E.

A. The Naval Observatory says that if an observer stands on the sea shore, his eye being five feet above the level of the water, the distance of the visible horizon is three miles.

Q. What is the middle verse of the Bible? W. S. B.

A. The middle verse of the Bible is the 8th verse of the 118th Psalm and reads: "It is better to take refuge in Jehovah than to put confidence in man."

Q. Is the "king's shilling" in regard to enlisting fiction or fact? F. Z.

A. The king's or queen's shilling, a shilling given by a recruiting officer to a recruit, until 1789 was by its acceptance considered a binding enlistment in the British Army.

EXAMINATIONS QUELL REBELLIOUS STUDENTS
By United Press Leased Wire
Madison—Final examinations beginning Monday quelled any further revolt by the students of the University of Wisconsin against the student senate for ordering the abolishment of the "green cap" tradition.
Following the massmeeting of 1,000 students Saturday night at which it was decided to override the action of the senate and enforce the traditions through a soviet committee consisting of 25 burley athletes, the students began cramming for the examinations and traditions will be kept into the background until June 17.
Faculty members, standing behind the decision of the student senate expressed the belief the examinations will calm the spirit of rebellion rampant in the student body.

WILSON KEEPING OWN COUNSEL ON WORLD'S AFFAIRS

Former President Is Slowly Recovering Health Lost While in Office.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Washington — Former President Woodrow Wilson is keeping his own counsel these days. It is doubtful whether there is anyone outside his immediate family circle who knows about the development of world affairs. It would not be surprising if even his immediate family doesn't know.

Since the Wilsons drove from the capital to their new home in S-Sst on the day President Harding was inaugurated they have lived about the most secluded life possible. On occasion they attend the theater as quietly and inconspicuously as it can be done, usually occupying seats in the rear of the house near the entrance. This is to make the walk from the motor as short as possible. The former president is still quite lame and while his general health is said to be improving, slowly but surely from week to week, it is not likely that he ever will be entirely relieved from the handicap of lameness.

Every detail of Wilson's life is arranged with the single idea of building up his health and strength. Mrs. Wilson devotes herself unremittingly to the labor of love which managing the household with this end in view involves.

The former president receives many letters from friends and admirers in all parts of the world. He reads a great deal, as always, and the habit of reading aloud which has long been cultivated in the Wilson family circle is continued.

Unless the weather is entirely too bad, Wilson takes a motor ride every

Confessions of a Bride

(Copyright 1920)
Madeline Marche Remembers
Madeline Marche regarded Ann and me curiously.
"Lommer girls—both of you?" she asked abruptly.
"We nodded and offered flowers and fruit with our nicest smiles."
"Why do you bring expensive white grapes to me?" And hills-of-the-valley in February," she held the slender stalks like a true lover of rare blossoms. "I guess you don't know who I am!"
"Oh, yes, we do! Morrison told us!" Morrison? Humph! He knows me all right! Times have been changing, she rambled on. "You girls don't seem to feel that calling on me will hurt you. You can bet your mothers wouldn't have come!"
"Nobody can hurt us but ourselves!" I replied. It was an awful platitude, bald and old, but it took with Madeline Marche.
"True!" she murmured. "True! Nobody knows better than I!"
I marveled, not only at the correctness of her speech; how had this ancient creature come by her modern habit of introspection and frank confession?
"I guess you girls pay for this nice white bed I'm going to die in?"
"You're not going to die!" I protested.
"She wants to die mainly because she can't get any dope here," quoth a cynical young intern who had stopped by her bed as soon as he saw my ingenuie sister-in-law.
Madeline heard him and once more the profanity which had shocked me in the jail poured from her lips. As suddenly, she stopped in the middle of an invective. Her eyes were fixed on her white lilies. She ignored the young medic and addressed Ann and me.
"Lovely girls, you two. Good girls, both of you! Young and pretty—and good!" She studied one and then the other of us. "Make the most of beauty while you have it, my dears," she rambled on. "Youth is so short a part of life. And a woman who has been loved because she was beautiful gets mighty weary of the years after the wrinkles come. Love dies—like these!" She returned to the contemplation of her lilies. "It should last—or it's a farce."
"Tell us how to keep love?" I asked impulsively.
"Keep love? Who can do that?" She shook her head impatiently. "Don't you girls know a woman's only road to comfort and joy in her old age?"
"No! Tell us!" Ann and I exclaimed together.

Adventures of the Twins

Zippy Zebra's Story
Of course, by the time Zippy Zebra said "boot" to Mrs. Ostreich, she thought her young friend with the stripes had suddenly gone crazy. She went over and nudged her husband with her wing and pointed at Zippy and said she suspected all along that something was wrong with him.
But Mr. Ostreich said, "Nonsense" and strode right over to Zippy and demanded to know what he meant by Slipper, and a lovely maiden drove it."
"And the shoe?" asked Mrs. Ostreich, curiously.
"That was golden, too," answered Zippy. "It was called the Old Woman's Shoe" and was drawn by eight milk white ponies (and sometimes someone else besides) driven by a woman in a gray wig. A dozen children got a ride on the top."

talking of slippers and shoes and boots and things the way he was doing. Zippy looked ever so surprised. "Why it isn't any secret, I'm sure," he answered. "I'll tell you all about it." Nancy and Nick and Flippety Flap behind the bobabush leaned forward to listen, for they too, wished to know exactly what Zippy had been talking about.
"The slipper I spoke of," explained Zippy, "was a great golden one drawn by eight brown ponies (and sometimes someone else) in the circus parade. It was called Cinderella's boot."
Zippy nodded. "It was a great gold one and was drawn by eight gold black ponies (and sometimes someone else) A man dressed like a gray cat drove them. Over the top was a sign, 'Puss in Boots.'"
"He didn't mean us after all!" whispered Flippety Flap to the twins. But Mrs. Ostreich was still curious. "Who was the someone else?" she wanted to know.
"I was," answered Zippy Zebra proudly. "I was the one who had a turn at all three."

day, usually accompanied by Mrs. Wilson. His favorite route is through Rock Creek park, one of the most beautiful parks in the world, although on occasion he takes longer trips into the country.

He receives very few guests, although many of his old political friends would like to call. It is not that he would not like to have them, but the doctors advise against the expenditure of energy involved in entertaining them.

That the former president is keenly interested in every phase of the world situation, particularly those phases which are in any way related to the League of Nations or the treaty of Versailles, goes without saying.

Every newspaper correspondent in Washington has tried to get him to express his views for publication and many writers have journeyed to Washington especially for this purpose.

But the answer is always the same: "Mr. Wilson has nothing to say."

Miss Emilie Runshelmer returned Monday from Wausau where she spent the weekend with relatives.

BABY BORN ON PEACE DAY
After Mother Had Been Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Salisbury, Mass.—"For seven years I had a female trouble and such bearing-down pains I could hardly do my housework. The doctor said, 'If you can have another baby it might be the best thing for you but I am afraid you cannot.' I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and my baby was born on 'Peace Day.' If women would only take your Vegetable Compound they would have better health. I always recommend it."—Mrs. TRACY PATTEN, 2 Lincoln Ave., Salisbury, Mass.

The experience of maternity should not be approached without careful physical preparation, as it is impossible for a weak, sickly wife to bring healthy children into the world. Therefore if a woman is suffering from a displacement, backache, inflammation, ulceration, bearing-down pains, headaches, nervousness or "the blues" she should profit by Mrs. Patten's experience, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and be restored to health.

LEGISLATURE HAS BIG CALENDAR FOR WEDNESDAY SESSION

Tax Bills, Teacher Retirement Fund and Park Purchase to Be Considered.

By United Press (Associated Wire).—Madison—Wednesday promises to be one of the most important days during the entire 1921 session of the Wisconsin legislature and it is expected both houses will be in almost continuous session from early in the morning until late at night.

The assembly will open a long calendar Wednesday with the consideration of the senate amendment to the teachers' retirement fund bill. The senate has passed the teachers' retirement fund bill as amended, providing for raising the practically $1,000,000 annually by a mill tax. This was amended in the assembly by the Dahl amendment to raise the money with a surtax on all incomes above $5,000. Sent back to the senate for concurrence the surtax feature was still further amended to add an additional tax of one-eighth of one per cent on all incomes over $3,000, and this amendment will come before the assembly Wednesday morning.

Two motions for reconsideration are also on the calendar, that of Freehof to reconsider the vote by which the Pierson bill to create a department of markets in Milwaukee was killed and by Klesner to reconsider the vote by which the Nye bill permitting five cities to establish junior colleges was concurred in.

Among the other measures to be considered by the lower house are the Ingalls resolution providing for a joint inter-committee to investigate the differing systems of property and income tax laws and to make recommendation to the next legislature. The Holtz bill requiring labels on cloth, etc., with several amendments. The Dahl bill on income taxes; the bill of the special committee making the tax commission a one-man body; the bill of the same committee taking the administration of the soldier educational bonus from the state board of education and transferring it to the adjutant general, and the bill placing the state board of vocational education in the department of public instruction. The Benfer bill relating to chiropractic; the highway committee bill regulating motor traffic on highways; and the judiciary committee bill "to remove discriminations against women and to give them equal rights before the law."

The senate will meet early and consider the recommendations of the finance committee to indefinitely postpone the Severson surtax bill and the Arnold income tax measure; the university and normal school appropriation bills and then under a special order of business will take up the Division of Markets bill at 10 o'clock when an effort will be made to strike out the trade commission features of the bill.

The two houses are scheduled to meet in joint session Wednesday evening as a committee of the whole for consideration of the bill appropriating $250,000 for the purchase and establishment of the proposed Northern Lakes park in Price and Sawyer counties.

The proposed park lies largely between the north and south forks of the Flambeau river, tributaries to the Chippewa river, with a general elevation of about 1,400 feet above sea level. It includes over 30 miles of lake shore and about eight miles of river course with a land area of approximately 8,564 acres. The proposed park contains the Lake of Pines, Loon Lake, Round Lake and Mason's Lake all exceptionally fine fishing grounds while the lake contained the largest virgin timber left standing in Wisconsin.

BLAINE PUTS VETO ON RAILROAD BILL

Governor Holds Morris Bill Assumes Power Vested in United States Congress.

Madison—Gov. John J. Blaine vetoed the Morris bill giving the railroad commission power to authorize the suspension of operation or abandonment of that part of any railroad which it may appear is being operated at a loss. The executive approval of the bill No. 3198 was refused on the ground that it was invalid by reason of conflict and federal statutes, and upon grounds of "sound public policy." The veto message read to the senate today follows:

"I return herewith, without my approval, Bill No. 3198.

"Section (15) of the Transportation act, 1920, more commonly known as the Esch-Cummings law, contains the following provision:

"...and no carrier by railroad subject to this act shall abandon all or any portion of a line of railroad, or the operation thereof, unless and until here shall first have been obtained from the Commission a certificate that the present and future public convenience and necessity permit of such abandonment."

"And the exception thereto made by section (22) is as follows:

"The authority of the Commission conferred by paragraph (15) to (21), both inclusive, shall not extend to the construction or abandonment of spur, industrial, tram, switching, or side tracks, located or to be located wholly within one state, or of street, suburban, or interurban electric railways, which are not operated as a part or parts of a general steam railroad system of transportation.

"The rule of law is so elementary that it requires no citations that, in a case where the federal government is vested with exclusive jurisdiction over

INDEPENDENTS WIN FROM FONDY TEAM

Crack Fountain City Aggregation Is Easy Meat—Foresters Lose Game.

Kaukauna—About 200 fans attended the ball game on the home grounds Sunday when the Independents played the so-called crack Fondy Lac team. The game furnished more amusement for the people than excitement and it finally ended with a score of 11 to 4 in favor of the Kaukauna team.

Recessus occupied the mound in the first seven innings and his pitching made the visitors look foolish. Ryan, catcher, was hit in the neck the first round and Zink took his place. The local team batted the ball right and left in the first frame but was able to score only once. In the fourth inning the Independents took another plunge and chased two men over the platter. The visitors also scored two runs.

The real fun began in the eighth when the Independents began a veritable slaughter and pounded over eight runs before the side was retired. Most of the scores could have been prevented had the visitors played tighter ball and not made so many inexcusable errors. Pleschek and Sager each pounded the ball to the fence for two base hits. "Zulu" Zink was the hero of the day when he hit over second base for three sacks. Zink continued to hike without stopping and the visitors in their frantic efforts to catch him, overthrew the ball at first and second.

Fondy Lac ran in two more scores before the end of the game.

Foresters Lose Game

The Forester baseball team decided to forget how badly it was beaten Sunday when it played the Combined Locks team on the latter's grounds, but information from other sources revealed the fact that it managed to chalk up six runs against the twenty-six of the Combined Locks men. The Kaukauna Foresters were late in getting into the field and it is necessary for them to wait until the Forester league has played one round of its schedule before they can enter. Meanwhile they are getting practice by playing other teams. Their defeat at the hands of the Locks gave that team its ninth straight victory.

or a subject matter, the power of the state to legislate with reference thereto exists only so long as federal power is dormant and unexercised. Among such powers vested in the federal government is the power over interstate commerce. Consequently, upon the enactment of the Transportation Act, all power and authority of the state to legislate with reference to the same subject matter was automatically suspended during the period that the federal jurisdiction remains in force.

"The present enactment very plainly covers the same subject matter as does the Transportation Act, and is therefore clearly invalid. The foregoing is ample reason for disapproving the measure in question. I deem it proper to add, however, that independent of the complete assumption of power by the federal government, were the state free to act, upon grounds of sound public policy I would consider it my duty to disapprove the measure."

TWO COUNTIES ARE AT WORK ON LAKE-RO.

Inquiry started by the chamber of commerce to learn why Lake-Ro, had not been put in condition as promised revealed that Winnebago co. highway commission began work Saturday afternoon. A grader and steam roller are at work on the stretch one mile south of Appleton. Calumet co. will have a crew at work as soon as these men are through.

A new bridge is to be put in at the culvert near Manitowish, and crushed stone will be placed on the stretch from Finnegan corners to Lake park. The road will be as good as any in the county when finished, and will be maintained thus by being placed on the county trunk highway system. Summer resorts will benefit materially by the improvement.

"Hear what happened at the club, George?"

"The boys put across that plan for a smoker Tuesday night week. And the meeting voted to pass 'round only Adlon cigars. Some boost for your favorite smoke, isn't it?"

"I'll say it is! But, then, nearly every member of the club is an Adlon customer."

"I guess you're right, George. Adlon seems to be the official club smoke. I've heard 'Have an Adlon' at least a dozen times in the last few hours. How do you do it, George?"

"There's no secret about it—except the Adlon blend. Not another like it anywhere. It took 500 tests of different tobaccos to get this rare combination of rich, full-flavored tobaccos.

"Adlon is a different cigar, created after many years' study of the tobacco taste of discriminating smokers.

"It's a mild Havana filler and Sumatra wrapper cigar. No cigar at any price is produced with more exacting attention to detail.

"There are no 'gums' in Adlon to impair its quality. They're removed by an exclusive process. Adlon is all tobacco from end to end."

"In all my years handling cigars—you know I started at the cigar-maker's bench—I've never smoked any cigar so satisfying, so smooth and so delightfully fragrant as Adlon.

"Is it any wonder, then, that Adlon, with all these distinctions, should be the smoke-choice of men who use discrimination in the selection of their cigars?"

You can get Adlon—the best cigar you can buy—from any good dealer.

TAU-TAU KAPPAS ORGANIZE ALUMNI

College Graduates Will Carry Fraternity Ideals Into Life Work.

Alumni members of Tau Tau Kappa fraternity of Lawrence college formed an alumni association at a 6:30 breakfast Monday morning, with the idea of perpetuating the ideals of Tau Tau Kappa in their work after they leave college.

The purpose of the organization is three fold: To cooperate with the existing alumni association in bringing the alumni in closer touch with the college; to act as a nucleus in an attempt to bring the right kind of student to Lawrence and to carry the idea and ideals of the active chapter of Tau Tau Kappa into their future work.

Jack Vincent of this city was elected president of the association. Other officers are Florence Clark, Kenosha; vice president; Ethel Buckmaster, Marshfield; secretary; Donald Dyer, Lancaster, treasurer.

The other members of the association are Earl Watson, Dorothy Pierce, Marjorie Thomas, Appleton; Geraldine Pugh, Carroll Holt, Racine; William Waterpool, Kaukauna; Dorothy Watson, Manitowish; Victor Werner, Eula, Emma, Shawano; Chester Hartlett, Wausau.

The association will work in cooperation with the active chapter and with Lawrence college.

The members will be bound together by a "round-robin" letter which will be started July 1. The next meeting will be a reunion, June 10, 1922.

COURT RULES MAYNARD UNABLE TO MAKE WILL

In a decision rendered Monday morning, Judge A. M. Spencer declined to admit to probate the will of the late William L. Maynard, covering an estate of approximately $8,000. Heirs contested the will and the court ruled that there was undue influence and lack of mental capacity to make a will. The estate now descends intestate to the heirs.

An affidavit of prejudice was filed by attorneys against Judge John Bot-tensek, and Judge Spencer was called to try the case. The heirs are five children, Bert, Silas, Willard and Ernest Maynard and Mrs. Bessie Stockwell. It is understood that only two people were named in the will and that one was to receive the bulk of the estate. Attorney J. P. Frank appeared for the proponents of the will and Morgan and Johns for the contestants.

BUSINESS GOOD DESPITE INCREASING COMPETITION

"Conditions are about normal in our line," said S. A. Gmelner, secretary and treasurer of the Woods Product Co. "We are having a good demand for our product and are employing the usual number of hands," he said.

Mr. Gmelner claims that since the war more than half a dozen new companies throughout the country have started manufacturing meat blocks, but so far they had not cut into the local company's business and he did not expect they would. Before the war there were only four meat block plants in the country.

"Main Street" Is Called Best Selling Book Of Year

There are several ways of spending leisure hours in the summer time. One way is to get a good, interesting book and then find a nice comfortable place in the shade where one may read in peace.

Although some folks frown upon this sort of recreation, Appleton book dealers say it is quite in vogue and extensively popular.

At present, "Main street" by Sinclair Lewis is the book most called for. Dealing, as it does, with ordinary folks in ordinary situations, it has come into national demand.

George W. Thoms has found that Zane Gray is the most popular American author. He attributes this to the lure of the west and the romantic picturesque aspect this portion of the country presents to those who do not live in it as well as to many who do.

H. E. Pomeroy of P. M. Conkey, and company finds that only half the people that come into his store to buy a book know just what book they want to buy. The other 50 per cent "browse" around until they find a book that appeals to them.

"What are the greatest factors in selling a book," Mr. Pomeroy was asked.

"Principally, the writer," he answered. "Of course attractive covers do sell books. I believe one could even sell Cotton Mather's sermons if they were bound in colors that take the eye." Mr. Thom believes the writer is almost wholly responsible for the number of sales. As an illustration he points to Zane Gray as the leading American novelist just now. He gives Curwood and Bower the next places in popular affection.

The excursion committee announced that all plans were completed for the lake trip to Oshkosh July 4 aboard the steamer Paul L. There has been a large ticket sale.

Miss Elsie Reinke and Herbert Schultz conducted the educational period and a social followed, with games and refreshments. Three new members were received.

CAR CRASHES THROUGH FENCE GUARDING CANAL

An automobile driven by an unidentified lady got beyond her control while descending Pearl-st. hill late Sunday afternoon and crashed through the iron fence that guards the canal of the Fox River Paper Co., after cutting across the street ahead of an interurban car with which she narrowly escaped colliding.

The car was occupied by five passengers and had it not been for one of them setting the brake it is possible it would have gone into the canal as the front wheels had reached the edge of the bank.

ENGINE DIES ON CAR TRACK; NEAR WRECK

Street Car Motorman Stops Car Just in Time to Avert Serious Accident.

Herman Kohl and family narrowly escaped being run by an interurban car at Brighton beach crossing at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. In approaching the crossing the driver waited for the 315 car from Appleton to pass and then proceeded to cross the track without being aware that another car was following.

The automobile was occupied by eight persons and just as it got on the track the engine "died". The interurban car was so close and was under such headway that nearly all the automobile passengers jumped for their lives including a mother with her child in her arms.

The motorman applied the brakes as soon as he saw the automobile, and, according to one of the passengers, threw nearly all of them out of their seats. He succeeded in stopping the car within a few feet of the automobile.

While none of the automobile passengers were injured all were badly frightened and one young lady fainted after reaching the beach pavilion.

WARNS PARENTS TO KEEP CHILDREN OUT OF STREET

At St. Mary church Sunday, the Rev. W. J. Fitzmaurice admonished parents to refrain from permitting their children to play in the street because of the risk they run in being injured by automobiles. While not upholding drivers he said it was often impossible for them to prevent accidents especially where a child dashed out on the pavement from behind other automobiles. With parents training their children to keep out of the street, the clergyman said, many accidents could be avoided.

2,000 PERSONS ATTEND FREEDOM CHURCH PICNIC

Members of St. Peter church of Freedom held their annual picnic Sunday. It was attended by nearly 2,000 persons from all over the country. Dinner and supper was served by the ladies and it was estimated that 1,500 people were fed. Three hundred and fifty chickens and 125 pounds of sausage were ordered, but these did not supply the demand. Music was furnished by a Kaukauna band and various kinds of amusements were provided. Two men assisted in the parking of automobiles which lined both sides of the highway for half a mile.

REALTY TRANSFERS

UNCLE SAM PRINTS NEW POSTAL GUIDE

Business houses are urged by Gustave Keller, postmaster, to place their orders immediately for copies of the 1921 Postal Guide, which is now being printed in Washington. The guide is issued at cost. The charge is $1 for the book itself, and 50 cents to pay for 11 monthly supplements.

Postal guides are used extensively by business houses in the dispatch of parcel post, replacing the parcel post zone map. Every city in the United States is listed, together with a key number which gives instant reference to a zone list showing in what zone a city is located. The amount of postage then may be determined accurately, avoiding the inconvenience of bringing parcels to the postoffice to be weighed and stamped. The guide also classifies the cities by states and counties, contains all postal regulations and much other information of value to the public. It saves the trouble of telephoning the postoffice every time information is sought.

Girls! Lemons BLEACH SKIN WHITE

"GEORGES READY TO FIGHT OR RUN" IS KILBANE'S VERDICT

French Champ Trains From Ring to Hurdle; Then Back to Traps.

By JOHNNY KILBANE
Featherweight Champion
Manhasset, L. I.—One week of hard work should put Georges Carpentier in shape for:

- A fight with Jack Dempsey.
- A hurdle race.
- A 100-yard dash.
- A shooting match.
- Or a high jumping contest.

For the French challenger, who meets Dempsey July 2 for the heavy title, is an all around athlete and an expert at many kinds of sport.

He is using several of these sidelines in preparing himself for the Jersey battle. Jumping standards are placed close beside his outdoor ring. A hurdle course and a running track have been laid out nearby. Georges uses them all daily. He does a lot of target shooting also—says it helps his eye wonderfully.

It's been a long time since I've seen a more physically perfect athlete than was Carpentier when he threw off the bathrobe and stepped into the ring to work with Journee, the big sparring partner he brought from France.

He's tall—nearly the same height as Dempsey, but the difference in the build of the two fighters makes Georges appear far the smaller. Dempsey has the ruggedness of a bull. Thick neck, broad shoulders, but with legs that taper down gracefully—an ideal build for a fighter. Georges, on the other hand, has a small neck—too small to withstand a hammering, some of his critics say—his shoulders are broad and his thighs and legs are stocky. The muscles in his legs stand out like whipcord, although his arm and back muscles are the deceptive, flat sort that do not impress one until the challenger goes into the ring and brings them into play.

Even then one must judge more by results. For Carp, although a perfect physical specimen, doesn't look at all like a superman.

Eyes Changeable
I was interested in Carpentier's eyes. I noticed that while we talked, he kept them on me all the time. But they were pleasant, hazel eyes then, with a smile in them—almost like a woman's. In the ring his eyes tighten and the hard look comes into them that bespeaks the veteran of the roped arena.

Georges, outside the ring, is full of nervous energy. He never walks from the house to the old barn in which his indoor ring is located—he runs. He inodor crawls through the ropes—he jumps over. But when he's in the ring he's calm and cool.

The challenger is using every aid to put him into the best possible condition against Dempsey. Trainer Gus Wilson has even strung up for him a bag, similar to but smaller than a punching bag and filled with shelled corn. Georges hammers away at this daily, using the palms of his hands. It toughens them as he could not do with ordinary bag punching.

Georges' Edge

Both Dempsey and Carpentier are natural fighters. The challenger will have the edge in ring experience, for he has been battling for 14 years, while the champion did not break into the record books until 1915.

Georges is in prime physical shape for the fight right now.

"I'm just loafing," Carp told me, "it's too early to box much, although I'm doing just enough to keep my distance. Ten days of hard work just before the fight, we figure, will put me in excellent shape."

MAN O' WAR TO TRY TO MAKE COMEBACK

Trainer of Greatest Horse of All Times Wants to Establish New Mark.

Man O' War is going to try a comeback on the running track. That's the plan of Louis Feustel, trainer of the "greatest horse of all times."

The Mahubah colt's world's record for the mile was recently lowered by one-fifth of a second by Audacious at Belmont track. The new time is 1:55 3-5.

Feustel believes Man O' War is capable of regaining the honor of running the fastest mile of any horse in the world.

It is hard for all champions who have retired unbeaten to see their records taken away.

Jim Jeffries retired as heavyweight champion in 1905. Five years after he tried a comeback against Jack Johnson and was badly beaten.

But Man O' War has been in retirement only since last fall.

Every day he has been exercised on his own private track near Lexington, Ky.

If the horse does put on his running shoes again soon, he will likely be just as fast as ever.

Minor "Ruths" Fizzle
Hitting home runs in the minors and in the big show is a horse of a different color.

Frank Reever, who hit 22 for Reading in the International League last year, has earned but one circuit smash for Washington so far.

Everette Taryan garnered a total of 41 with the Wichita club in the Western League in 1920. He hasn't registered once in a White Sox uniform.

The pitching pace "up here" is some different than it was "down there."

Ty Cobb's Boys
Ty Cobb has two boys. He doesn't want either of them to become ball-players.

"A player's fame is too fleeting," says Ty. "You are a star today—a hasbeen tomorrow. If a youngster knew that he was sure to become a star he could figure on making a big salary—and saving it. But the ordinary player doesn't make enough in a career to give him a start in some other business when his diamond days end."

Ty plans to give his two sons a military schooling prior to study in some big university, and to inculcate in them the necessity for work and the value of a dollar.

Ed Horemans, Belgian cue wizard, won't return to America until next fall, giving Willie Hoppe more time to practice.

Joe Lynch has been reinstated and will continue his policy of giving all the bantams a whack at his title in no decision bouts.

Sport Views And News

Oshkosh is piling up a comfortable lead in the Fox River Valley League pennant race and is beginning to look as if the Sawdust City gang has an inside track to the championship. The team is drawing immense crowds in its home park and is filling the seats when it is on the road. The team is quite well balanced and is blessed with an excellent pitcher. Stevenson knows how to work on the mound and usually manages to keep blows well scattered. He is hit hard in nearly every game but tightens up splendidly when runs are imminent.

Yankee athletes were forced to take second place in the athletic carnival held under the auspices of the allied armies of occupation in Coblenz, Germany. The Frenchmen copied first honors with an 84 point score while the Americans were second up with 75. England trailed the United States squad while the Germans ended up in the ruck behind the Belgians and Italians.

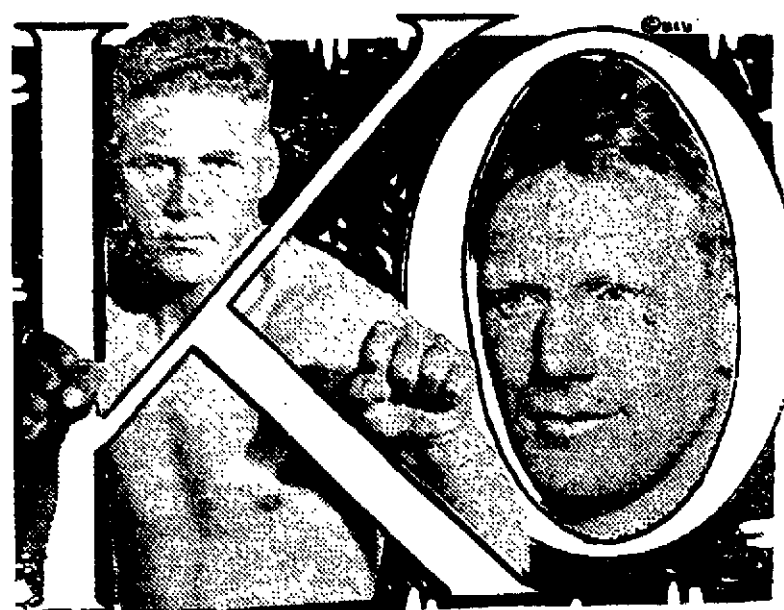

The victory of France over Czech Sam caused quite a bit of publication in Paris and the French press played up the story of the meet as if it were the Olympic games.

Baseball players surely are reaping a harvest this year in the "bushes" of Wisconsin. The ruralite teams are spending wads of dough on their teams this season and real snappy ball players are in great demand. A good battery can practically name its own price and some of the twirlers are putting as high as $80 a game, win or lose. Those country teams generally have an "angel" behind the gate receipts. No wonder some of the city team magnates turn grey with worry.

Eddie McGorty is still getting by. The Oshkosh veteran held Phil Harrison to a draw the other night in Aurora, Ill., and 5,000 flocked to the bout. McGorty keeps on a going and it is said that he is piling up quite a little sack on his come back journey.

Harry Jackson, secretary of the Outagamie Hardware Company, is ill at his home with lumbago.

WHEN KAYO MEETS KAYO!

Kayo meets kayo when Bob Martin, A. E. F. heavyweight champion, and Frank Moran, the freckle-faced Pittsburgh slugger, meet in a 15-round bout in New York, on July 1.

The soldier fighter has stamped his kayo wallop on 50 opponents.

The fight which won the A. E. F. title on July 4, 1919, and crowned him as the greatest fighting man among 4,000,000 fighting men, was his 24th knockout. He delivered it in just 52 seconds.

Since that time he has fattened his batting average, which even surpasses that of Jack Dempsey's 45.

However, many of his opponents up the scale until now he isg-KbRwr were practically unknowns. The youngster has been fighting his way up the scale until he is now eligible to meet the top notchers of his division.

Moran's chief claim on kayo fame came with his quick knockout of Joe Beckett. He did the job almost as quickly as Georges Carpentier.

This victory made him the hero of all London. His famous "Mary Ann" punch was the talk of England for months afterward.

The Pittsburgher has been promised a match with Carpentier late this year.

Moran is 31 and weighs 203 pounds. Martin is 23 and scales 190.

Watching The Scoreboard

Monday's hero—Babe Ruth (seventh citation.)

He snagged two homers, pitched five innings, fanned Ty Cobb.

Ruth's first homer set a record by dropping into the center field bleachers, miles and miles from home. The Tanks beat Detroit 13 to 5.

Heinie Groh went back to third for the Redlegs but Brooklyn defeated Cincinnati, 3 to 1.

Facing an attack of which Les Mann's two homers were a good example, the Giants were annihilated by the Cards, 10 to 1.

The White Sox got their early and concentrated on holding the Red Sox away from the plate. With five runs in the first, the Chicagoans won, 6 to 4.

Four homers were part of the Pirates' vicious attack on the Phillies who lost 12 to 6.

Sam Rice treated Cleveland pitchers to a display of two singles, two doubles and a homer in five times up but the Indians defeated Washington, 10 to 6.

JACK WANTS TO GET BACK TO FIGHTING

Atlantic City, N. J.—Jack Dempsey bore up well Tuesday under the strain of doing nothing.

Loading on the steps of his house here Tuesday, Jack watched his sparring partners, Marty Burke, Jack Renault and Harry Williams, dotted to the limit of the style of 1922, head for the board walk.

"They're having their fun now," grinned the champion.

"Wait until I get at them next week."

He swung his heavy left arm in a vicious sweep to emphasize his threat. Manager Jack Kearns told his charge Tuesday that he could do no real work until Friday.

The hardest work permitted the champion now is a brief walk. His trainers look at him suspiciously if he remains away from camp more than an hour, fearing that he has extended the walk allowed him.

Jack works in the country during the morning and takes an afternoon stroll along the board walk where he never fails to stop traffic.

CRESCENT STARS WIN FROM YOUNG MEN'S TEAM

The Crescent Stars baseball team defeated the St. Aloysius Young Mens team at Pierce park Sunday afternoon, 8 to 7. Schomisch and Kempf were the battery for the victors. Other members of the Crescent team are J. Heigle, shortstop; J. Heinskill, first base; W. Weneman, second base; C. Schwerbel, third base; E. Brill, rightfield; J. Skall, centerfield; P. Sharp, leftfield.

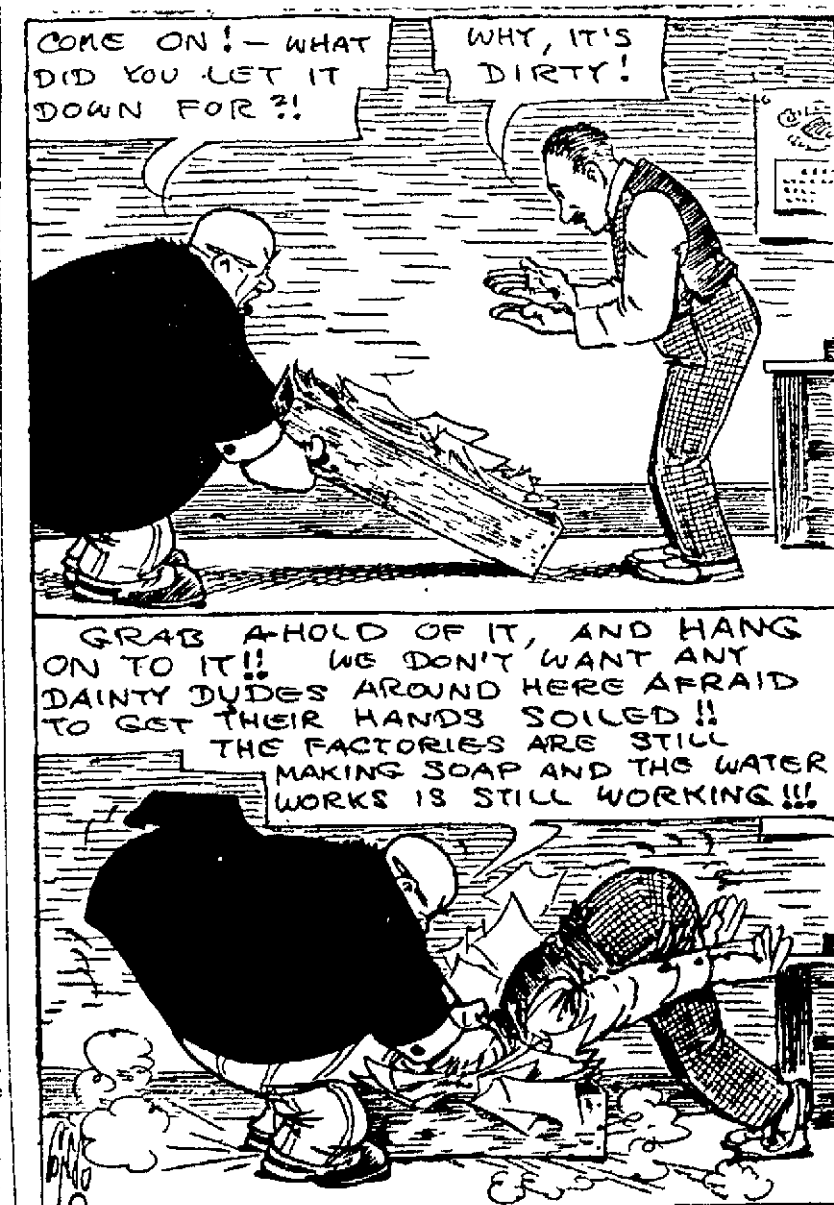

Games with the Crescents can be arranged by getting in touch with Joseph Heinskill or Carl Kempf.

CONSIDER CHANGES IN BRANDT'S TEAM

Want to Present Strongest Possible Front to Oshkosh Here Next Sunday.

There is a possibility some changes will be made in the Brandt baseball team before next Sunday as a result of the two defeats in the last two weeks. The team did not look any too strong against Kimberly, errors accounting for several of the runs scored by the downriver aggregation.

Schultz was hammered rather hard in both games, hits coming in droves and resulting in runs. Kimberly scored six runs in one frame last Sunday and Oshkosh scored a quartet of counters in the previous game. That indicates, according to the fans, a letting down of the bars. It must be said, however, that two errors started Schultz on the road to ruin in the fatal seventh inning at Kimberly.

Brandt has had trouble all season at second base. Boyer didn't cover the corner in very good style and has been shifted to the outfield where he is going good. Durain was shifted to second to make room for Mudloff at third but the Lawrence man also is rather weak in the place. It is possible that Durain will go back to third base and Mudloff will go on second.

Shott is a pretty good catcher but is rather weak with the stick. In fact the entire team has been falling down in the pinches lately although it is hitting well when the bases are empty.

Bleachers will be ready for use by next Sunday's game, it was said. The outfield is to be gone over with a disk in order to cut off the lumps of earth and fill the holes. The field now is entirely too rough to permit fast fielding.

Blanchers will be ready for use by next Sunday's game, it was said. The outfield is to be gone over with a disk in order to cut off the lumps of earth and fill the holes. The field now is entirely too rough to permit fast fielding.

are much cooler and vastly more comfortable,—besides you will be saving the trousers to your heavier weight suit for wear next fall.

A summer weight trouser will cost less than the new trouser you'll need to buy for wear with the coat and vest next fall.

Better make the saving—be more comfortable and dress more in keeping with the season.

present a special program for members and the public at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in Elk hall.

The program will open with the "Star Spangled Banner," sung by the audience. Introductory exercises will be conducted by Daniel P. Steinberg, exalted ruler and other officers. The chaplain will offer prayer and an altar service will follow, conducted by the esquire and officers. Mr. Steinberg will speak on the "History of the Flag," after which the audience will sing "Auld Lang Syne." Joseph Kot-fend, Jr., will give the Elk tribute to the flag and the program will close with the singing of "America."

THE PETTIBONE-PEABODY CO.

June Bargain Week
Pettibone's Auto Owner's Sale
Positive Proof that Prices are Down

A Sale of Twenty-Five
Floor Lamps
Complete With Shade
$27.50 and $39.75

The bargain hunter who shops tomorrow will have no doubts that prices are way down on these lamps. This is a special collection which we secured for June Bargain Week and they represent the greatest lamp values you have seen in years.

These floor lamps are shown in either mahogany or polychrome bases in silver, gold and bronze effects. They are beautifully hand carved and finished with a permanent lustre that is impossible to scratch. All have two lights and a six foot cord.

The shades come in a wide variety of styles as illustrated. The most wanted colorings are shown, including blue, rose, green, bronze, mulberry, gold and fawn. The materials are of the best quality silks and brocade with heavy double fringe and light apron.

Few things add so much to a room as a really beautiful floor lamp, and these are just the kinds that you would like to have in your home. Last year these very lamps would have sold as high as $65.—NOW at $27.50 and $39.75.
